Where is the 2006 conference being held?

This year's conference will be held at the Boca Raton Resort and Club in Boca Raton, Florida.

My latest information listed the 2006 conference venue as the Fairmont Turnberry Resort in Aventura, Florida. What happened?

The NAJIS board was notified in May that the Fairmont Turnberry Resort would be closed for renovations from July through December. The conference was relocated to the beautiful Boca Raton Resort and Club facility as a result of this information.

I've already registered for the NAJIS conference. Is my registration still valid even though the hotel location has changed?

Yes! We secured a new location relatively close to the original destination to accommodate those who had already made reservations.

What about my hotel reservation at the Fairmont Turnberry Resort?

The Fairmont Turnberry Resort has cancelled all reservations for guests during this period. If the Turnberry has not already contacted you, please call them to confirm that any charges incurred (typically one room night) are appropriately credited. The Boca Raton Resort and Club will be ready to take reservations by the June 7, 2006.

What is the dress code for the conference?

The typical dress code at NAJIS conferences is business casual. The dress code for the outing is casual as you may want to kick off your shoes for a walk on the beach.
